

Navigating Human Behaviors in the Meetings Industry

Creating successful meeting requires working with other humans. Why is it sometimes challenging to interact with someone else who is significantly different than you? What is standing in the way of your greater success? Explore the ways that you and others are “wired” in this interactive session.

Discover:

- Your approach to problems and how you handle CHALLENGES.
- How you attempt to interact and INFLUENCE other people.
- Your response to CHANGE and the pace of activities.
- How you attempt to respond to rules, PROCEDURES, and regulations set by other people.

This session will conclude with an open forum discussion of issues important to you.
